Master Gardener volunteer educators provide non-formal learning opportunities for children and adults in home horticulture and environmental science:

- "The Garden Line" makes recommendations for managing home lawns, gardens and pests.
- School children benefit from Junior Gardener science enrichment programs in the classroom.
- Adult learners gain knowledge and skills at workshops and lectures.

Delaware Cooperative Extension connects the public with university knowledge, research and resources to address youth, family and community needs.

DELAWARE MASTER GARDENER

MASTER GARDENERS ON SITE

A team of New Castle County Master Gardeners (NCC MGs) will come to your home to help you find solutions to problems. The team will spend up to two hours on site. Recommendations will be made in accordance with the policies of Delaware Cooperative Extension.

You have the option to have these recommendations provided either as:

1. Brief written summary of the principal recommendations along with any applicable Cooperative Extension publications. Donation of: $100.00
2. No written report following the visit, but the opportunity to take your own notes during the visit. Donation of: $50.00

A donation is appreciated to support Master Gardener educational initiatives. Donations will be accepted after the site visit has been completed. Please do not mail payment with your application.
