4 Del. 4-H'ers attend national conference

The following Delaware 4-H Club members attended the 2004 National 4-H Conference, held in March in Washington, D.C.:

Dustin Borntreger of Felton, a junior at Lake Forest High School; Wendee Killmon of Bridgeville, a sophomore at Greenwood Mennonite School; Justin Pink of Milford, a junior at Milford High School; Angie Tinsman of Seaford, a junior at The Learning Center.

The delegates participated in workshops and roundtable discussions to share experiences and work toward addressing the issues of youth and the 4-H Youth Development Program.

Conservation award winners announced

The winners of the annual Agricultural and Urban Governor's Conservation Awards were announced during an April 22 ceremony at the Delaware Agricultural Museum in Dover. Agricultural category: Larry Armstrong of Smyrna, Thomas and Charmaine Pardee of Harrington and Ray Robbins of Ellendale.

Urban: Thomas J. Kane of Wilmington, Robert D. Rauch and Associates of Bridgeville, and the city of Dover for the Schutte Park ball field parking lot project.

Conservation awards are given to individuals, businesses or government agencies who have promoted soil conservation.
