ServSafe® Food Safety Training

Food safety in a food service establishment is non-negotiable. Each year, an estimated 6 to 12 million Americans contract food-borne illness as a result of contamination by micro-organisms. These illnesses are preventable. Proper training is the key to preparing food in a safe environment.

The ServSafe® program is the premiere food safety certification offered by the National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation (NRAEF). The program is designed for the food-service professional.

A ServSafe® certificate from the NRAEF will be awarded to individuals who complete the course and receive a passing grade on the exam. Instructors are registered ServSafe® instructors with the National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation. The cost for the course covers the training, textbook, lunch and certification examination from the NRAEF.

This training helps prepare your establishment to meet Delaware Food Code regulations.

ServSafe® is a registered trademark of the National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation.

Delaware Dine Safe

The Delaware Dine Safe education program was developed by the University of Delaware Cooperative Extension to educate restaurant employees on the basic principles of food safety and the importance of serving safe food. The course is led by ServSafe® certified trainers and is conducted in the County Extension Offices or at your location if you have 10 or more employees in attendance.

This three-hour short course is an invaluable opportunity for all employees (back and front-of-the house) to focus on their individual roles in safe food handling. Restaurants are encouraged to include everyone in this course regardless of their positions or how many hours they work each week.

Each participant receives a training guide (The ServSafe® Employee Guide) outlining the information covered during the program. The instructor will use presentations and hands-on activities to reinforce the lessons taught.

Your employees will learn skills and strategies they need to follow to keep food safe regardless of their job.

All participants receive a certificate of participation. You must include a listing of your employees with the registration form in order for us to prepare the certificates.
