

Delaware Grain Farmers Strategize, Support Each Other On-Line

Issue

Grain and oilseed producers, merchandisers, traders, analysts, industry representatives, educators and other interested parties enjoy an advantage by sharing ideas on grain marketing strategies.

What's Been Done

UD Extension established a Web site called the "Grain Marketing Discussion Group" to network with others involved in grain marketing and to discuss related issues. In addition, market updates are posted on the Web site.

Impact

Web site started in 1998 with 20 subscribers has grown by 2002 to 100 people representing Delaware's grain industry and members of the Chicago Board of Trade site.
